The new Executive wishes to thank Josephine Palumbo, Past President of the NCIC (National Capital District) for her many years of devoted service.

The Ottawa District represents the interests of Italian-Canadians in the Nation's Capital at the municipal, provincial and federal levels of government. It is a non-profit, non-politically affiliated organization, which provides assistance to the Italian-Canadian community in dealing with civic affairs and provincial and federal programs. In general, it represents the community in projects of common interest and welfare in respect of social, economic and political issues affecting the Ottawa community. The Congress is "sui generis" and represents all Canadians of Italian heritage. The National Congress of Italian Canadians, founded in Ottawa in 1974, and recognized by the Government of Canada, stands very proud as the official leader in representing the 1.4 million Canadians of Italian heritage.
